

The Men in Black on the Move with South Mimms Travel'

New Coach for Saracens

South Mimms Travel has a long and proud history with Saracens RFC.

The relationship goes back to 1989 when the MD of South Mimms Travel, Steve Griffiths, being a keen rugby fan, used to regularly support the team from the sidelines at Bramley Rd.

When the supporters association was formed by Brian Thomas, South Mimms Travel who were just a year old at that time, were asked to provide transport to and from games.

Since then South Mimms Travel have carried the likes of Richard Hill, Tony Diprose (whom they used to pick up from a bus stop outside Loughborough University where Tony was studying), Francois Pirnear, George Shuter, Michael Lynagh, Danny Grewcock, Kris Chesney, Paul Wallace and Thomas Castaignede, to name just a few.

The team and drivers soon formed a strong friendship and on one occasion the regular driver Eamonn Clarke discovered the Club had accidentally forgotten to book a room for him at the hotel they were staying at.

Worse still, the hotel was full. Keen not to see their favourite driver sleeping on the Coach the players all volunteered to put Eamonn up. It was Richard Hill in the end that had the pleasure of sharing his room with Eamonn.

Eamonn became almost part of the furniture would video all the games from high above the ground alongside the TV crew so that the team could watch the game on the coach on their return journey and use the video for training purposes.

Over the years South Mimms Travel have sponsored players

Andy Lee, Julian White & Robbie Russell and have continued to sponsor the Club through Corporate events.

With the extended Saracens family, South Mimms Travel often carry the Youth sides including the U17's, U16's, U13's and of course the ladies team as well as the Supporters Association.

The latest Saracens Liveried Coach is the 5th replacement over 18 years and South Mimms Travel is proud to continue their relationship with the Club.

The Falcons in HOT water!

Inspirational Hot Tubs, the Newcastle dealer for Master Spas the leading manufacturer from the USA, brought more fun and frolics to the Newcastle Falcons game on Friday by providing a hot tub for use by the players and competition winners.

One of Master Spas' luxury hot tubs was situated within the ground at Kingston Park all through the European Challenge Cup game against French team Brive. It was also in play for the game against Wasps.

Competition winner Colin Hoggins watched the wind-lashed game from the comfort of the "Hot Tub".

Colin won his soak in the luxury massage machine by bidding on e-bay – with proceeds going to the Falcons Community Foundation which offers a wide range of activities centred predominantly on schools and rugby clubs.

The "Hot Tub" provides the lucky winner with a match ticket, free drinks and a half of the game in the Master Spas luxury "Hot Tub".

You can check out the Newcastle Falcons website for more information.
